Gender Policy

1. Preamble:

In order to have a better understanding of the concepts of equality and nondiscrimination, the two fundamental aspects of our constitution, there is a need to understand the basic concepts like difference between sex and gender, gender roles, gender stereotypes, gender division of labour, gender discrimination, gender based violence, masculinity, patriarchy, gender equality and so on. These concepts are necessary to understand because “the gender question is not just about women and men and how they interact (the gender question, Human development report, 2000) but understanding these concepts would help in sensitizing people about curbing the gender biases prevailing in the society and would help in empowering girls and women to achieve their goals. We all need to understand how gender roles lead to gendered division of labour, how it enable participants to understand gender discrimination based on stereotyping of male and female qualities. We also need to understand the social pressures, benefits and costs for men and women to conform to dominant gender roles. Now we must know why gender equality is needed: Gender equality is not only a fundamental human right, but is a necessary foundation for a peaceful and sustainable world. For building prosperous societies and economies. By providing equal access to education, decent work, and representation in political and economic decision-making processes, not only women should have rights, but all of these would benefit humanity at large. (<https://www.niti.gov.in/verticals/sustainable-dev-goals Page33>). It would not only make progress on Goal 5 of the Sustainable Development Goals, but also make gains on the alleviation of poverty and promote sustainable economic growth.

2. Guiding Principles:

Gender equality is an international commitment and recognized as a prime Sustainable Development Goal of any nation and society. The Constitution of India endorses gender equality, equity and other fundamental human rights. In the constitution, it is mentioned in Articles 14, 15, 19(1) (g) 21. Violation to any of these is liable to punishment as per IPC acts. India has a rich cultural heritage having several traditions wherein woman empowerment is the guiding principle. We are expected and needed to accept the best possible human practices of modern societies such as liberty, equity, fraternity. Our central and state governments have adopted free education policy for girls up to the higher secondary level. This policy will be guided by the provisions in the following:

INDIAN LEGISLATION:

- The Sexual Harassment of Women at Workplace (PREVENTION, PROHIBITION and REDRESSAL) Act, 2013
- The Criminal Law (Amendment) Act, 2013
