DEPARTMENT OF SOCIOLOGY

A. Importance of The Subject:-

Sociology studies role of the institutions in the development of the individuals it is through sociology that scientific study of the great social institutions and the relation of the individual to each is being made. The home and family, the school and education, the state and government, industry and work, the community and association these are institutions and their role in the development of the individual suggests suitable measures for restrengthening them with view to enable them to serve the individual better.

- 1) Sociology makes a scientific study for society.
- 2) Study of sociology is indispensable for understanding and planning of society.
- 3) Sociology is of great importance in the solution of social problems.
- 4) Sociology has changed our outlook with regard to the problems of crime, corruption, etc.
- 5) Sociology has made great contribution to enrich human culture.
- 6) Sociology is of great importance in the solution of international problems.

B. Scope of sociology:-

Sociology makes a scientific study of society. Prior to the emergence of sociology the study of society was carried on in an unscientific manner and society had never been the central concern of any science. Consequently a sociology graduate can have a competitive advantage in today's information, communication and technological society.
